原文

The Emperor's New Clothes

There was an emperor who loved to wear beautiful new clothes. One day, two imposters came to the city. The imposters said: "We can weave the most magical cloth in the world. Foolish people cannot see it." The emperor wanted to use the magical cloth to make new clothes, so he gave the imposters a lot of golden and silver thread.

After a few days, the emperor wanted to see what the magical cloth looked like. Huh? The loom was empty, nothing was there ... "I must be a fool!" The emperor was very scared. So, he deliberately praised the cloth loudly.

The emperor's ministers went along and also pretended to see the cloth, facing the empty loom and giving a thumbs-up gesture. The imposters used a pair of scissors to cut into the thin air and also used needles without any thread to sew.

"Noble emperor, the new clothes are done." The imposters pretended to put the new clothes on the emperor. The emperor held a grand parade in the city. The people all were competing to praise him. Suddenly, a child shouted: "The emperor isn't wearing anything!" At this time, the emperor realized that he had been tricked, and he quickly ran back to the palace.
